Clinician: Pasquale Fanetti
Pasquale Fanetti is a registered graduate of the Dental Technology Program at The New York City College of Technology and is employed by Dr. Jonathan L. Ferencz, FACP, and Dr. Lawrence Brecht, prosthodontists and maxillofacial specialists, in their New York City practice.
Mr. Fanetti has trained with many renowned technicians including Ernst Hegenbarth, Willie Geller of the well regarded Oral Design Group, as well as Shiego Katoka, Lee Culp, David Pellin, and Luc Rutten. He also lectured and presented numerous hands-on courses for dental manufacturers like Nobel Biocare and Ivoclar-Vivadent.

Topic: “Pressed Ceramics Using IPS e.max”
The lecture will encase the stages of fabrication of all ceramic restorations in posterior and anterior regions. Start to finish procedures and materials used to fabricate the restorations will be discussed. Among them will be IPS e.max, ZirPress, and gingival tissue reproduction materials. Mr. Fanetti will also stress the need of education and proper communication between the patient, the dentist and dental technician in order to accomplish the desired results.
