

Just for Faculty: Using Twitter and Instagram

This faculty workshop will explore two social media platforms and how they can be used in the classroom. Instagram is a popular social media network that allows users to share photographs using their smartphones or tablets. Twitter is a microblogging network where users can send “tweets,” which are 140-character long messages. Participants will learn how to use these platforms, searching, and the use of hashtags. Conducted by Professors Junior Tidal and Nora Almeida.
