

YOUR. WORDS. MATTER. VOLUME 19

Have your Faculty - Sponsored work published in City Tech Writer.

We publish outstanding work from ALL disciplines:

- Lab reports
- Research papers
- Essays
- Interview transcripts
- Creative written work
- Short films, and more!

CTW brings your ideas, stories and poetry to life in accesible alternative formats. Last year, we were proud to feature the first Spanish language essays in City Tech Writer's history.

This will be our THIRD all-digital issue, The brand new website, which can be viewed here, supplements students' voices with video interviews, audio versions of enteries and images. We encourage submissions from all departments, and are always looking to represent new courses. Eighteen years in, we're still hoping to showcase everything that the written world has to offer at City Tech.

If you are a student, you'll need a professor to sponsor no more than 3 submissions.

If you're a professor, please upload up to 3 students' work electronically (preferably in Word, but PDFs acceptable) to the following site:

openlab.citytech.cuny.edu/citytechwriter

If uploading poses difficulties, you can still email the submission (and any questions) to Prof. Lucas Kwong at ctwsubmissions@gmail.com.

Keep your submissions coming throughout the fall semester!

Thanks for submitting. I hope you'll help us turn words into worlds.

The deadline for submissions is November 25, 2023.